Scripture Reading: Mark 16:1-8

The very first Easter taught us this: that life never ends and love never dies. —Kate McGahan

Perhaps you've heard the story of a little boy who was not exactly happy about going to church on Easter Sunday morning. His new shoes were too tight, his tie pinched his neck, and the weather was just too beautiful to be cooped up inside.

As he sulked in the back seat, his parents heard him mutter: "I don't know why we have to go to church on Easter, anyway; they keep telling the same old story, and it always comes out the same in the end."

Yes, it always comes out the same in the end, but it's not the end, but a beginning. And it is because of this glorious new beginning, we can be assured that everything's going to be okay.

In her children's book, The Summer of the Great Grandmother, Madeleine L'Engle tells of being with her grandchildren at bedtime for reading and song. Her grandchild Lena turned to her and asked, "Is everything all right?"

She said, "Yes, of course, everything is all right."

Lena asked again: "Gram, is everything really all right? I mean really?"

L'Engle says she "looked at that little child in her white nightgown and realized that she was asking the cosmic question, the question that is out beyond the safety of this home full of light and love and warmth."

Every Christmas, we come to the manger child and ask the same question: "Is everything really all right?"

Every Easter, we come to the tomb and ask that same question: "Is everything really all right?" Yes, everything is going to be fine, just fine.

He is risen! He is risen, indeed!

—Timothy Merrill

Prayer: Thank you, O God, for your resurrection power in raising Christ Jesus from the darkness of the tomb, and for showing the world that now and forevermore everything is going to be all right! Amen.
